Acclivity Trading System

The Acclivity Trading System is designed to hedge client's traditional stock and bond portfolios. It trades primarily in the equity indices, particularly the e-mini S&P contract, as well as treasury instruments, when appropriate. The Acclivity Trading System is technical in nature, though fundamental factors may be considered during trade construction. It is intended to mitigate risk of a client's individual portfolio, and therefore positions may be customized based on each client's portfolio. There is no guarantee against loss in a portfolio and/or account.

AKAM Founder

Alpha Kairos was founded by financial advisor and institutional industry veteran Anthony McCarty. Raised in Oklahoma, Anthony graduated from the University of Oklahoma with a degree in Philosophy. Out of college, he joined U.S. Naval Intelligence, serving as a decorated Intelligence Specialist and Analyst. Anthony synthesized an intelligence analyst background with trading and investment strategies to create the foundation of what would become the Alpha Kairos Acclivity trading system. As CEO and Founder of Alpha Kairos, Anthony seeks to bring meaningful value to his clients and the world.
